JODS is slowly building up the library of publications and articles on the new platform of OJS (Open Journal System). This edition we have 2 new original publications building up the catalogue of peer-reviewed publications on JODS.

JODS will slowly move all old editions onto the new platform and members will have full access to the new website.

We have applied and we are in the process of indexing with Google Scholar, which will make our articles fully indexed. We are also preparing 25 articles to submit to PubMed in 2023 Q3/4 for indexing in PubMed.

JODS is slowly growing in popularity and we are hopeful with the new platform and PubMed indexing we will attract more original articles and publications.
